

Jeff Ingram

President, McCourt LP

Jeff Ingram is President of McCourt LP and oversees many of the family's business interests and philanthropic activities.

Jeff joined the McCourt Company in 1999 as Vice President, Capital Markets. In that role, he managed the company's diversification into professional sports. He served as Executive Vice President – Finance and Strategic Transactions for the Los Angeles Dodgers from 2004 until moving to McCourt Group in 2008. He also serves as a Director of the LA Marathon.

Prior to joining the McCourt Company, Ingram spent 19 years in commercial banking at the First National Bank of Boston and the Bank of Tokyo Trust Company based in New York City. He specialized in commercial real estate and has been involved in transactions totaling billions of dollars and featuring nearly all types of real estate.

Ingram graduated from the University of Rhode Island with a B.S. in business administration with High Distinction and from the Honors Program in finance and insurance.